There is no man on the line better qualified for intelligent and effective work for the highway than Mr. Gary.

In spite of the detention of Gen. Victoriano Huerta, under federal bond, events point to continued activity in the new revolutionary movement across the Rio Grande. Doubt was expressed by some close observers whether Huerta would make an effort to cross into Mexico even should he be released at his hearing July 1. Huerta declared that as soon as he is released, he will continue his interrupted journey to San Francisco.

R. F. BOYD 'BURIED HERE

Died in St. Louis of a Complication of Diseases.

The remains of the late Robert Fairleigh Boyd were laid to rest yesterday at Riverside Cemetery.

The body was brought here on the 5:45 train yesterday morning. Mr. Boyd was a cousin of Mrs. E. P. Fears. He had been in bad health for many years but worked until a few months ago in a wholesale house in St. Louis. He had been confined to his bed for over two months. A complication of diseases caused his death. Services were held at the grave by Rev. Lewis Powell. The deceased was a son of the late A. F. Boyd and was 30 years old. He had been in the employ of a wholesale millinery establishment in St. Louis for several years. Death was caused by valvular heart disease. Mr. Boyd was a member of the Methodist church.

MATINEE RACES 3RD

Extra Program Will Be Pulled Off Saturday at The Fair Grounds.

ARE SEVERAL CLASSY RACES.

Glorious Fourth To Be Observed With Day of Pleasure.

To celebrate the 4th of July holiday, matinee races will be held Saturday at the fair grounds. Big preparations are being made to make the the best matinee races that have yet been held.

The features will be the class A trot and class A pace, which will go for one mile heats and the class B trot and class B. pace and the Green trot or pace which will go for one-half mile heats. A mule race will also be on the program. Good purses are offered as premiums in these races and a large number of entries have already been announced.

A pony race between the young boys will be held too, but the track officials will not admit any boys to enter who have not written permits from parents. The pony race will go for one-fourth of a mile and a tempting prize is offered to the winner.

The Third Regiment band will furnish a musical program all during the afternoon.

Owing to the expenses involved in arranging the program an admission fee of 25cts for adults and 15cts for children will be charged. A record breaking crowd is expected.

The races will start at 2 o'clock. Wagonettes and taxis will carry the crowds out from town. All old soldiers, both Federal and Confederate, will be admitted free.

I. O. O. Election.

The semi-annual election of officers of Green River lodge, No. 545, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was held Monday night and resulted as follows:

Noble Grand—Jas. A. Wolfe.
Vice Grand—W. H. Underwood.
Secretary—W. C. Wright.
Treasurer—W. H. Fyke, Jr.
Trustee Long Term—Thos. F. Calard.

BOYS BEAT BLOOMERS

Girls' Team Loses By Score of Nine to Six to "Co. D."

It looked like old times at the ball park Tuesday. The grandstand and bleachers too were well packed and the crowd had lots of pep. "Co. D" easily beat the Bloomer Girls 9 to 6.

The Bloomer Girls' team, which had four men on it, played snappy ball. A left handed girl pitcher started twirling, but was knocked out in the second inning.

The rain in the 5th looked like it would end things, but everybody patiently waited and in a few minutes the game was able to be started again.

Joe Kelly and William Tandy put up a stellar game for the "Co. D" bunch. Kelly got two three-bag wallops, Tandy also hit hard and timely and handled the initial cushion in fine shape.

Stonewall Morris umpired the game.

Two Auto Accidents.

Two minor automobile accidents occurred on South Main Tuesday. An automobile driven by Edmund Starling in turning backed against Mr. J. M. Forbes' buggy and knocked off one of its wheels. Later in the day about the same spot M. G. Moore's automobile lost a wheel, which ran off the axle. No very serious damage resulted in either case.

PRIMARY RACE ENTRIES CLOSE

Progressives Will Get Certificates of Nomination With a Ballot.

FIELD IS CLEAR FOR LOGAN.

At Last Hour John C. Duffy Decides To Stay Out.

Frankfort, Ky., June 30.—Primary entries closed at midnight Monday night; and the drawing for places on the ballot in legislative, judicial and Commonwealth's Attorney places took place today in the office of Secretary of State C. F. Creelius, after which he will certify to the County Clerks the names of candidates and the order in which they will go on the ballot. The names of candidates for State offices will go on the ballot in alphabetical order in the first congressional district, rotating after that in each district. In the First district the order in the Governor's race will be Bosworth, McClesney, McDermott, Stanley. Bosworth's name will head the list in the First, Fifth and Ninth; McClesney's in the Second, Sixth and Tenth; McDermott's in the Third, Seventh and Eleventh, and Stanley's in the Fourth and Eighth.

Candidates may withdraw at any time before the primary; though haste will have to be made if they prevent their names going on the ballot. In case there is no contest the name of the only entry for the place on the party ticket will not be certified to the County Clerk; but his certificate of nomination will be issued to him by the Secretary of State. As it stands all the progressive candidates will get their certificates in this way; but Assistant Attorney General M. M. Logan is the only fortunate candidate for State office among the Democrats and Republicans. He has no opposition for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General.

STATE CANDIDATES.

When the Primary entries closed at midnight Monday night the following candidates had filed their declarations:

FOR GOVERNOR.

Democrats—E. J. McDermott, Louisville; H. M. Bosworth, Fayette county; H. V. McClesney, Frankfort; A. O. Stanley, Henderson.

Republicans—E. P. Morrow, Somerville; Ben L. Bruner, Louisville; Latt F. McLaughlin, Madisonville.

Progressive—Fred J. Drexler, Louisville.

PLAINTIFFS WIN SUITS

Two Litigants In Circuit Court Trials This Week.

BIG SUITS, SMALL JUDGMENTS.

June Term Will Come To An End Saturday, July Third.

The damage suit of Walter Averitt against the Mogul Wagon Co., which went to the jury Monday morning, was decided Tuesday and a judgment given the plaintiff for $475. He sued for $10,185 because of a broken leg caused by a pile of lumber falling upon him.

In the case of J. W. Wade against the Frank Fehr Brewing Co. the plaintiff was given $1,100. He sued for $5,100. A team belonging to the defendant ran into the plaintiff's Ford automobile, breaking it badly and painfully hurting Mr. Wade.

The important case of City of Hopkinsville vs. Mrs. J. D. Hill and 12 or 15 other property owners who refused to pay street improvement assessments Dec. 20, 1912, will come up for trial to-morrow. The sums aggregate $2,500 with interest for two and a half years.

Yesterday the continuation of the hearing in the case of Wright & Johnson vs. A. C. Cayce was taken up. Wright and Johnson sued for $500 on the ground that Mr. Cayce had misused rented property. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant.

The commonwealth case of Isaac Brandon (col.) is now on trial.

PETERSON CASE SETTLED

Details Carefully Guarded But Rumor Accepted as True.

PLAINTIFF RETURNS TO UTICA

No Definite Information Obtainable as To Terms of Settlement.

It can be stated by authority that the damage suit of Mrs. Bernis M. Peterson, of New York, against Mrs. E. G. Peterson, for $100,000 will not be tried in Circuit Court. It is rumored, and not denied, that a settle-ment was reached between the litigants and their attorneys Tuesday morning at Hotel Latham and that the same day Mrs. Bernis M. Peterson, the plaintiff, her little daughter Jane and her mother, Mrs. Greene, left for their homes at Utica, New York. A separate suit against Mr. Peterson by Mrs. Greene for an alleged loan of $4,000 or $5,000, it is said, was not included in the settle-ment.

At the recent calling of the case, Judge Hanbery continued it until October. The plaintiff had remained here since and it is said negotiations had been in progress and the two sides gradually reached an agreed basis of settlement, the exact terms of which are known only to a few.

The attorneys for the plaintiff were Downer & Russell and John Feland. Those for the defendant were Trimble & Bell, Wood & Son and C. H. Bush. Mrs. Peterson, who was ill at the time the case was postponed, has since recovered.

There are all sorts of rumors as to the amount paid to the plaintiff, none of the amounts named being less than $10,000 and some going as high as $29,000. It is said the real amount was $11,750, of which the plaintiff received half and her attorneys half, which did not include court costs or the defendant's attorneys' fees.

Prior to the departure of little Jane Peterson, aged 5, Mr. Peterson saw her at Hotel Latham and just before she left the little girl telephoned her father goodbye.

Every man knows that he could make himself famous if he wasn't so blamed busy working for a living.

FATALITY FROM CRAPS

Ed Greenwade Shot and Killed Near Herndon Saturday Night.

Ed Greenwade, a negro whose home was near Roaring Spring, was killed in a crap game near Herndon Saturday night. Henry Campbell is charged with shooting him, but up to yesterday he had not been caught.

Greenwade was shot twice. One bullet passed through his abdomen and the other struck his left arm. He lived until 11 o'clock Monday. Greenwade made a dying statement, in which he said Campbell shot him.

Have You Got It?

Just at this time when paranoia is being discussed it might be well to give the definition of Dr. Flint, the celebrated alienist, so the reader may determine for himself if he is afflicted:

Paranoia is a chronic progressive psychosis occurring mostly in early adult life, characterized by the general development of a stable progressive system of delusions without marked mental deterioration, clouding of consciousness, or disorder of thought, will or conduct.

TOMASZOW CAPTURED

Germans Have Invaded Russia's Own Territory In General Advance.

THE DEFEAT IS CRUSHING.

British Press Voices a Note of Genuine Alarm.

London, June 30.—The Austro-German army, in its advance over the Galician border, has captured the Polish town of Tomaszow. The Russians are in general retreat on a front of 250 miles. Warning is sounded by the English press that the capture of Warsaw or the seizure of the great railway lines which supply it would be disastrous to Russia, and would be followed by greater pressure in the West.

David Mason, Liberal, has given notice that will discuss the possibility of early peace in the House of Commons in "view of certain speeches by members of the German Parliament demanding a speedy and honorable peace."

Notwithstanding the French attacks around Arras, it is argued that the Germans must feel comparatively secure in the west, else they would not have risked their tremendous enveloping movement against the Russians. The French are persisting in their assaults in the neighborhood of Arras, but without appreciable change in the situation.

The Berlin official communications records progress by the Teuton troops in virtually the entire south-eastern theater, although violent fighting is still in progress beyond the Gnila Lipa, which joins the Dniester at Halicz.

Having forced a passage of this stream General von Linowgen's army is presumably astride the railway running from Halicz to Lemberg and Stanislaw, and now doubtless is aiming at the line which runs from Lemberg to Odessa through Tarnopol.

It seems evident that Germany is bent on further punishment for the Russians before relaxing the intensity of her Galician campaign, but with the Russians across the frontier, the Germans will have to rely almost solely on road transportation and their advance will necessarily be slower.

DRAGGED BY MULE

Negro Boy Fatally Injured at Farm of Dan Claggett Monday.

Will Cox, aged 20, a negro hand on the farm of Dan Claggett, a few miles from town on the Julian road, was very seriously injured about 12 o'clock Monday, when he fell from a mule.

No one saw the accident, but it is thought that the negro's foot got caught in the plow harness which was on the mule and when the mule threw him he could not extricate himself. The mule ran a long distance, dragging him behind.

The physicians consider his condition as very serious and he has only a bare chance for recovery.

Up until yesterday evening he had never regained consciousness and his condition was no better.

For the purpose of securing more co-operation from physicians and nurses in the anti-tuberculosis campaign, The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis has inaugurated a movement to bring the importance of this subject to the attention of these two groups. Among the first things which the Association is trying to do is to induce the medical colleges and schools of nursing to give more instruction, particularly of a clinical nature, on tuberculosis.

Nashville's municipal scandal is still the sensation of the hour. For "the immediate recall of the five city commissioners" of Nashville petitions were started into circulation Monday night at a meeting of the recall committee, composed of lawyers and business men, in the law offices of Laurent Brown in the Vanderbilt Law building. Each man present signed for a petition and the campaign for the signatures of 1,800 freeholders has begun. The petitions that are designed to eventually recall Mayor Howe and the entire board of city commissioners are addressed to the board of election commissioners of Davidson county.

His Usual Behavior.

A little boy with big, innocent blue eyes and sunny smile had been having an unusually good romp all morning, but when dinner was announced he so quietly and sedately followed out after his uncle, who was visiting them, that the uncle, noticing, said to him: "Ray, I believe you are a pretty good boy." Ray, looking up solemnly, replied: "I'm just like this all the time."

TROUBLES THAT ARE REAL

When They Come, People Stop Complaining Over the Trifles They Thought Were So Great.

We are full of afflictions and complaints. Our salary is too low, our rent too high. Somebody of less merit gets a better job. Our investment has gone wrong. Our children are disobedient and extravagant. The street cars are slow and crowded. The wheat crop has failed. Cholera gets the hogs.

Every now and then, however, we get the real measure of these tribulations. This neighbor is not worrying much about salary or rent, because the doctors have told him he must soon die. That neighbor finds no fault in his child, because it lies dead. The poor ventilation of our house seems quite tolerable in contrast with that other house, where snow beats through the cracks and there is neither fuel or food.

Before such comparisons we are dumb and contented for a day or a week. So in our national life; how manifold and poignant are the causes of complaint—until we look across at those places in Europe where death, wounds and beggary are the common lot!

Then—well, we shall complain as often and as bitterly as ever; but we shall whistle "Hail, Columbia" under our breath while doing it.—Saturday Evening Post.

SAVED BY A SHELL.

The captain, commander, torpedo-lieutenant and another officer of the Blucher only escaped going down with their ship by a most extraordinary coincidence.

They were in the armored conning tower when the vessel began to heel over from the effects of the British fire. They were preparing to leave it, as she was manifestly sinking, when a shell struck it with such force that the door jammed and could not be opened.

They resigned themselves to death, and, making a virtue of necessity, were preparing to go down with the ship, when a second shell struck the conning tower and blew the top clean off. Thus a way was opened for them to escape, thanks to their enemy, of which they availed themselves.

In the long list of semimiraculous occurrences it would surely be hard to find one to beat this.

Early Coal Famine.

There was a coal famine in England in 1666. England was at the time at war with Holland, and, owing to the presence of the Dutch fleet in English waters, the Newcastle colliers found it impossible to get through to London. A period of great privation ensued. Writing in his diary in June, 1667, Pepys observes that "the great misery the city and kingdom is likely to suffer for want of coal is very visible, and, it is feared, will breed a mutiny." Later in the month comes the following entry: "Such is the want already of coals, and the despair of having any supply, that they are come this day to £5 10s a chaldron."—London Chronicle.

The Logic of It.

The Yale freshman year was proving very expensive to father, so father decided to have a "heart-to-heart" talk with Johnny, home for the week end. "Now, son," said he gravely, but affectionately, "your mother and I are spending just as little as we possibly can. I get up in the morning at half-past six and I work until after five. But, son, the money just won't go round at the rate that your expenses are running. Now, I ask you, as one man to another, what do you think we had better do?" For a moment Johnny's head was buried in thought—and then he replied: "Well, father, I don't see any way out but for you to work nights."

"CATTALO" GIVES GOOD MEAT

Result of Series of Experiments in Crossing Buffalo and Domestic Cow.

"If scientific breeding could have been employed by our forefathers the country would not be up against the problem of how to increase the meat supply," said Frank A. Conrad of Montana at the Raleigh, according to the Washington Post. "Instead of pure beef, however, the people likely would be eating the meat of the cattalo, a cross between the buffalo and the domestic cow. The first experiments of crossing the buffalo and domestic cow were made more than a decade ago by 'Buffalo' Jones. He demonstrated that the cattalo was superior as a meat producing animal to the American steer. Other experiments were carried on by Charles Goodnight in Texas, and Messom Boyd in Ontario, Canada. All of the experiments have shown that the cross produces a much more valuable animal for meat purposes than straight breeding.

"The great advantage of the cattalo lies in the hump, which is one of the characteristics transmitted by the buffalo in the cross breeding. This hump is not a mass of fat, as is popularly supposed, but is formed by neural spines in length fully double those of domestic cattle, and also by huge muscles which lie alongside and fill up the angle between the neural spines and the ribs. In a rib roast of beef these muscles constitute the upper cut. I have partaken of a hybrid roast with an upper cut nine inches deep."

ACCENTS RIGHT AND WRONG

In the End Matter Seems to Come Down to a Question of Usage and Custom.

The Office Window is asked why people insist on accenting the words
"ally" and "allies" on the first syllable instead of the second. There is no dictionary authority for the pronunciation of ally, with accent on the first syllable, except that the Century dictionary, which admits all the new and alternative pronunciations, says in parenthesis, after giving the regular pronunciation al-ly,
"often al-ly," accent on first syllable.

One very seldom, in this country, hears the accent of the substantive
"ally" placed on the second syllable, where it belongs, though the verb "to ally" is always accented on the second syllable. The reason for the current mispronunciation is plain—it follows the universal tendency in this country to accent a word of two syllables on the second when it is used as a verb, and on the first when it is used as a noun. This tendency makes many people say "his ad-dress is 203 Broadway," though there is no authority for accenting this word, at any time, on the first syllable; while they say, "you may address me at 203 Broadway." The same American tendency causes most people to accent the verb "construe" on the second syllable; it should be accented on the first.—New York Mail.

TALLEST COP IN A PINCH

While Pursuing a Delinquent Small Boy Policeman Gets Stuck
Under Church.

His earnest effort to arrest William Gadis, fourteen years old, of 760 Pine street, who had been sleeping under a mission at Ann and Chestnut streets, Camden, caused Policeman George Donovan to become a prisoner, wedged under the little church. Donovan, who is the tallest man on the Camden police force, was told that Gadis was under the mission, and when the boy failed to respond to calls to surrender the big policeman went after him.

He had crawled about fifteen feet when he found he was unable to move in either direction. Policeman Richard Cornog was told of his big comrade's predicament, and he hurried to his assistance. It was with difficulty that Donovan was released.

OPPOSE NEW LUNACY LAW.

There is likely to be considerable opposition to the mental treatment bill, which is down for second reading in the house of commons, says the London Globe. The idea that mental cases among wounded soldiers should be treated in hospitals and nursing homes without the necessity for formal certification under the lunacy acts is commendable enough in itself, but there are very great and obvious dangers in the proposal. In effect, the act would place the liberty of the individual at the mercy of executive officials, besides introducing into English law that dangerous provision of an old but still extant Scottish act under which mental "cases" may undergo detention for six months, on the authority of a single medical man, and without provision for any legal procedure or appeal. It cannot be said that the measure is of so urgent a nature as to require being rushed owing to national emergencies. The law relating to lunacy is of so delicate a nature that it would be in the highest degree undesirable to make the slightest change merely as the result of war conditions.

said, after deciding to engage her.
"You will answer the door to visitors,

"Well, mum," replied Mary Jane, in-Rough on the Bishop.

The verger of the little old country church was showing a party of visitors round.

He pointed out the place where Cromwell's cannon balls would have hit the church, only it wasn't built then, and all the usual sights of the place.

Then they ascended the belfry.
There the verger drew a long breath, and the visitors crowded round eagerly. Evidently they were to see the sight of sights.

"Now, this 'ere bell," said the verger proudly; "a bit remarkable this bell is. It is only rung on the occasion of a visit from the lord bishop, a fire, a flood, or any other such calamity!"—London Mail.

Not His Preference.

Little James was taken to a lunch-beef. He had managed to put away everything else she served, but left hostess asked him why he hadn't eaten

it and he replied: "I can't eat Sunday meat." He doesn't like roasted meat, and that is what they generally have at his home on Sundays.

IT WAS A LOVELY SUNDAY

Which Was the Simple Explanation of Why Mr. Wobbits Did Not Make His Train.

Stimville's polite agent leaned against a Bangitt unbreakable trunk (adv.) and regarded expressionlessly the gentleman who was waiting for a train. For two hours and thirteen minutes by his cheap but dependable Beerbury watch (adv.) he had been expressionlessly regarding the same gentleman as he paced impatiently and every now and then looked either at his pocket timetable or his gold Elhanger timepiece (adv.).

Finally Wangheaver Wobbits (for such was the impatient gentleman's name) strode over to the polite station agent. Yes, it was the famous facetious Wangheaver Wobbits, whose killing remarks had been the life of so many dinner parties.

"My man," said Wobbits in his best manner, "is this a railroad station or a perpetually endowed waiting room?"

"It's a railroad station, sir," answered the polite station agent.

"Well, then, do the trains run on tracks or speculation?" demanded Wobbits.

"On tracks, sir," replied the polite station agent.

"Well, then, how is it that I've been waiting here ever since two o'clock for the 2:13 train, and it's now 4:15, and no train yet. Take a look at this timetable and at this watch, please, and tell me why?"

The polite station agent looked as requested and then said softly, "Because that's a weekday timetable, sir."

It was a lovely Sunday.—Indian-

Civilization's Onward March.

"Progress is like the insidious change from youth to old age, except that progress does not mean decay. The change that is almost imperceptible and yet inexorable is much the same, however. You will see a community apparently changeless as the years pass by; and yet, when the years have gone and you look back, there has been a change. It is not the same. It never will be the same. It can pass through further change, but it cannot go back. Men look back, sick sometimes with longing for the things that were and that can be no more; they live the old days in memory—but try as they will they may not go back. With intelligent, persistent effort they may retard further change considerably, but that is the most they can hope to do. Civilization and time will continue the march in spite of all that man may do."—From B. M. Bower's book, "The Flying U's Last Stand."

JOHN C. DUFFY

Explains Why He Withdrew For Attorney General.

To Democrats:

"I regret to say that for reasons which are purely personal, I determined that I could not afford the sacrifices necessary in a successful race for the nomination for attorney general, and for that reason, decided not to continue in the race. I retire from the race for attorney general with no feeling of bitterness, but with the greatest hopes for the success of our party in November.

"The practical unanimity of the Republican party in their recent platform convention, and the acceptance of the county unit platform by the state-wide element in that party, is conclusive proof that further discussion of that question in the Democratic party at this time should be eliminated. The Democratic party is responsible for good government in this state, and its success should not be jeopardized by warring factions, or subordinated to the ambition of individuals seeking nominations. When the people of the state desire any radical change from present laws, they will demand it through their regularly constituted representatives in the general assembly and the Democratic party can be depended on to carry out their wishes. This is no time to rock the boat, as it is said, in the state or in the nation and the result in Kentucky this year should not be jeopardized by bitter discussions or by warring factions, as the result in Kentucky this year will have a very material effect on the result in the nation next year.

"Thanking my friends throughout the state for their earnest support, my only wish now is for the success of the party in November."

SLATON'S DEFENSE

Retiring Governor of Georgia Justifies His Clemency.

At a luncheon given in honor of the new Governor the retiring Governor referred to the Frank case.

"Honest people may disagree with an honest man," he said, but we realize that we must be measured by our conscience. Two thousand years ago, another Governor washed his hands of the case and turned over a Jew to a mob. For 2,000 years that Governor's name has been accursed. If today another Jew were lying in his grave because I had failed to do my duty, I would all thru life find his blood on my hands and would consider myself an assassin thru cowardice."

No reference to the Frank case was made by Governor Harris in his speech. He expressed the hope "that we will have no more trouble."

During the inaugural ceremony at the capitol, there were several tense moments. When Gov. Slaton approached the new Governor to deliver the State seal, a few hisses were heard. President Parsons, of the State Senate, warned the spectators that unless they were in order the galleries would be cleared. Instantly there was a tumult of applause.

SEAL NOT DISHONORED.

Presenting the seal, Governor Slaton said:

"Governor Harris, I know that during my term of office this great seal of State has not been dishonored." His words were greeted by prolonged applause.

HOW SERIES

Of Circumstances Shot Newman out of Gubernatorial Race.

(By Thomas Cromwell.)
Lexington, Ky., June 30.—The withdrawal last week of Commissioner of Agriculture John Wesley Newman from the race for the Democratic nomination for governor was not wholly unexpected and occasioned little surprise in Kentucky's political circles, as because of circumstances over which he had no control he practically had been eliminated as a factor in the fight.
First, the foot and mouth disease among the cattle of the state, and next the action of the Beckham-Haly organization and the Anti-Saloon league in combining and bringing out Harry V. McChesney on the state wide prohibition plank took from Newman thousands of votes.
Newman's was the first announcement to include a statement in favor of the submission of state-wide prohibition to a vote of the people, and on that announcement he was assured by Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp that he should have the support of the Kentucky W. C. T. U., of which she is president, and that endorsement was regarded by the ultra dry element as a big asset for Newman until the McChesney machine began its mining operations on the claim that Newman had staked off for himself.

Mrs. Beauchamp Stood By Him.
Mrs. Beauchamp, however, continued loyal to the gentleman from Woodford county, and only the other day she sounded a warning to the temperance forces to have nothing to do with the gubernatorial candidate who has the support of Senator J. C. W. Beckham and Gen. Percy Haly, declaring that they could have caused at the last session of the general assembly the passage of an amendment to the constitution submitting the question of state-wide prohibition to a vote of the people had they not been afraid that it would endanger Senator Beckham's chances for the office he won last fall.

Persons who are well acquainted with Mrs. Beauchamp say it is not likely that she will change her mind, even though Commissioner Newman is out of the race, and McChesney is the only candidate for governor in the Democratic household who is advocating state-wide prohibition.
However, it is presented as logical that the ultra dries who were for Newman will go to McChesney, comparatively few though they may have been, and with equal logic it is contended that the conservatives, especially the farmers who were for Newman, will give their support to one of the candidates advocating enforcement of the county unit law.
Farmers Don't See Dryness in State-Wide.

It is argued that the bulk of Newman's support would have come from men who had taken a fancy to him during his connection with the state fair and the department of agriculture, and it is said by sagacious politicians and men who travel among the farmers and stockmen that they are taking the ground that since the Webb-Kenyon law does not, under the decision of the supreme court, prohibit the shipment of liquor into Kentucky from Ohio or Indiana or any wet territory, there is no guarantee that Kentucky's saloonless counties will be any dryer under state-wide prohibition than they are now under the county unit law, and that under such circumstances they are not willing to vote an extra tax upon their lands and stock to support the enforcement of state-wide prohibition and to make up for revenues lost through its adoption.
It may have been this sentiment that was most responsible for Newman's decision to withdraw, though it may not have been so expressed to him.

Stanley Makes Position Clear.
Mr. Bosworth's attitude is that he shall stand by and for whatever sentiment is expressed by a platform convention, whether it be held before or after the primary election, but McDermott and Stanley are both outspokenly going no further than the county unit law, the former claiming to have played a big part in putting it on the statute books and the latter pledging himself in each speech he makes to permit no amendment to or modification of the enactment that would weaken it in the slightest degree. Bosworth is sanguine that he will get many dry votes and wet ones upon his platform. He says he is going to win the nomination, and he says it as if he believes it is all over but the shouting.

Lieut. Gov. McDermott is equally certain that he is going to win and just as sincere in his claims, though the Louisville Post, which is backing his candidacy, this week said: "The result in the governor's race, taking the whole state, is in doubt, and no supporter of either of the three leading candidates really knows which way the tide is drifting. Time, indeed, exists for many changes; but in Louisville there is no doubt where the party stands. Louisville is for McDermott and will give McDermott a commanding majority."

home, and, inasmuch as it will not be desirable to have both of the leading men on the ticket residents of the same city, his entry will have the effect of weakening McDermott and strengthening Stanley, according to the argument of numerous politicians.

July Bills.

This is the first of July and a great many accounts fall due. If everybody who owes a bill would do his level best to pay it without delay, the same money would settle many obligations in circulating in the channels of business. On this line the Lexington Leader says:

"There are people, it is true, who are hard pressed and who find it difficult promptly to meet their obligations. There are others, however, who are amply able to do so, and often, because they themselves are not badly in need of the immediate dollar, take it for granted that everybody is as fortunate.

It should be borne in mind by everybody that the merchant cannot let his accounts run for six months. His bills fall due every thirty days and he must meet them or settle with the sheriff. Usually he borrows from the banks and depends upon his January and July collections to square his accounts with the money lenders.

The credit system which is followed in most rural communities is bad enough at its best, but it is destined to survive for many years yet.

Its evil consequences can be greatly lessened if everyone will meet his obligations promptly as they fall due. This is not only just, not only decent and upright, but it is good business. The circulating cash dollar is what makes things lively up and down the business streets—gives work to laboring men, a market to the farmer, good cheer to everybody.

"Be a good scout." You intend to pay your bills eventually—why not do it promptly this morning the very first day of July? Here is a fine place to apply the golden rule."

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the glory that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the Crusades; through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Prof. Grosvonts completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability in comprehending conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

LEARNING MENTAL HYGIENE.

At a conference on mental hygiene in Albany, N. Y., recently, the first gathering of its kind in that state, emphasis was laid not only on the need for understanding the causes of insanity, the danger of alcohol and syphilis, and the perils threatening children of mentally defective or diseased parents, but also on the means for preventing insanity.

The conference urged increased facilities for housing and caring for those suffering from mental disease, and for extended social service, that the environment as well as the health of patients may be improved. A carefully prepared exhibit and a series of moving pictures illustrated these needs of the state and some methods of meeting them.

RHUBARB AT ITS BEST

RECIPES THAT HAVE BEEN TRIED AND FOUND WORTHY.

Plant Just Now Is at Its Best and Should Have a Place on Every Table—Dumplings That Appeal to the Children.

Rhubarb is at its best just now, as well as cheap, so it is a good time to serve it often at the table. But in order to have it appreciated it should be prepared in a variety of ways.

Very delicious preserves can be made with rhubarb either alone or combined with another fruit.

Rhubarb and Fig Jam.—To five pounds of rhubarb cut short lengths allow one pound of cooking figs, the grated rind and juice of one lemon, and four pounds of sugar. This should stand over night, and in the morning be cooked very slowly for an hour. Then put into glasses and seal.

Rhubarb Jam.—To each pound of rhubarb allow one pound of sugar and one lemon. Peel the yellow rind thin and slice the pulp. Put away over night with the cut rhubarb as before described, and boil for three-quarters of an hour slowly. Pour into jars and seal.

Rhubarb and Orange Jam.—Put three pounds of oranges into a preserving kettle with plenty of cold water and simmer for three hours. Drain and cut up the oranges, rejecting the seeds. Put six pounds of granulated sugar into the kettle with just a little water and stir frequently until it boils. Then put in the oranges with three pounds of rhubarb cut into short lengths. Stir again until the mixture boils and then let the whole simmer for another twenty minutes.

Rhubarb Dumplings.—Children will enjoy these for lunch or supper, even though they do not like rhubarb. The rhubarb is stewed in half its weight of sugar and a little water. While it is cooking mix a biscuit batter, using a pint of flour, one-half teaspoonful salt, two teaspoonfuls of making powder and a cupful of milk. Drop this in the rhubarb by spoonfuls and cook for from eight to ten minutes. A pinch of ground ginger or a few raisins can be added if the flavor is liked.

Rhubarb Jelly.—This makes a nice Sunday dessert, because it can be prepared the day before. Soak one-half box of gelatin in half a cupful of cold water for an hour. Cook two pounds of rhubarb in a very little water and when reduced to a pulp sweeten to taste. Set aside and cook one cupful of sugar with one of water for twenty minutes. Stir the soaked gelatin into the boiling sirup and stir until dissolved. Remove from the fire, add the rhubarb and set away in a mold to cool.

Rhubarb sponge is made as for jelly, but when it begins to thicken the beaten whites of three eggs are whipped until the jelly is quite stiff. Serve with whipped cream or a thin custard made from the yolks of the eggs.

Rhubarb Compote.—A compote is very little more trouble than stewing, but infinitely more attractive when served. Boil one cupful of sugar with a wine-glassful of water for five minutes. Then drop in short lengths of rhubarb, a few at a time, so they retain their shape. Take them out with a skimmer as they become tender and lay in a dish. Pour the sirup over and serve when cold.

Washing Shawls.

To wash knitted or crocheted shawls, fold them as flat as possible and lay carefully in a pillow case, run through at intervals with basting thread to keep flat. Then they should be handled like other flannel or woolen goods, says the Dallas News. If washed separately, observe the usual precautions for woolen goods, gently squeezing through the hands and keeping the suds and rinsing water of the same lukewarm temperature. Take out of pillow case, but do not hang knitted goods up to dry. Put in the oven on a big platter, shaking and turning occasionally, or lay on a clear cloth in the sunshine.

Drop Gingerbread.

Beat to a cream one-half cupful of butter or lard that has been softened. Add two well beaten eggs, one cupful of molasses, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon, a tablespoonful of ginger, half a cupful of sour milk with a teaspoonful of soda beaten in, and, lastly, three cupfuls of flour. Cover the bottom of a dripping pan with buttered paper, drop the dough on in spoonfuls, giving the cakes ample room to rise and bake a rich brown in a moderate oven.

To Clean a Copper Kettle.

To bring a copper kettle back to its first brightness, wash with soap and water, then make a paste of a knife powder and paraffin and scour well. Two or three cleanings may be necessary to bring it back to its original brilliancy.

Chateaubriand Steak.

Wipe a nice tenderloin steak with a damp cloth, put on a buttered broiler and broil over a fire until done, but not dried. Transfer to a hot platter, butter thickly and cover with broiled mushrooms, laid close together.

Butter Gravy.

One tablespoonful of butter, one heaping tablespoonful of flour, shake or two of pepper, little salt. Work butter into flour and gradually stir in hot water until mixture is correct thick.

LENTIL'S GREAT VALUE

VEGETABLE CONTAINS HIGH DEGREE OF NUTRITION.

Baked and Served With Nuts and Tomatoes, It is Probably at Its Best—Good Omelet for Lunch—Egg or Supper.

Lentils baked with a few chopped nuts and tomatoes make a dish with more value than meat. After a pint of lentils have been soaked, drain and cover them with fresh water and boil until the skins crack. Place them in a shallow baking pan, mixing them with a half pound of Brazil nuts which have been peeled and chopped fine, sprinkle over two teaspoonfuls of salt, cover with strained tomatoes and bake for two hours.

Lentil cutlets make an excellent dinner dish. Prepare a quart of lentils by washing and placing in a granite saucepan with a quart of cold water, a teaspoonful of lemon juice, two small onions, four whole cloves, three red peppers, a teaspoonful of salt and a bunch of herbs—including plenty of parsley. Cover and cook over a moderate fire until the water has been absorbed and the lentils are soft, but not pulpy. Take out the herbs, onions and cloves and mix with the lentils half a pound of fresh mushrooms previously cooked in their own liquor and slightly flavored with mace—set aside the liquor of the mushrooms for gravy. Add to lentil and mushroom mixture two tablespoonfuls of red currant jelly, a dessertspoonful of meat or vegetable extract, a little red pepper and some celery salt. Add unbeaten eggs, one or two at a time, until the mixture is well bound together. Then brush with egg, coat with brown breadcrumbs, after shaping into a cutlet, and fry in deep fat. With the cutlet serve a well-seasoned brown gravy, using the mushroom liquid as foundation, and adding at the last moment another small spoonful of currant jelly.

Lentil omelet is a splendid luncheon or supper dish. Wash three tablespoonfuls of lentils, then cook them in salted water. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan, fry in it a peeled chopped shallot, add the drained lentils and fry a few minutes. Moisten with three tablespoonfuls of brown sauce, season with salt and pepper and keep hot. Break six eggs and beat them up well with two tablespoonfuls of cream, season and pour into an omelet pan containing some melted butter. When the omelet begins to set spread the lentils over it and fold over. A little tomato sauce may be poured around the base of the dish if desired.

Cheese baked with lentils makes a substantial and easily prepared dish. Prepare the lentils as for the cutlet before the mushrooms are added and sprinkle several layers of grated cheese into the baking dish between the layers of lentils. On the top put thick slices of ripe tomatoes or cover well with canned ones. Over them sprinkle finely chopped parsley and dot the whole with small pieces of butter. Bake quickly and serve hot with or without gravy.

In Germany one eats lentils this way: Wash two cupfuls of lentils, soak over night, drain and cover them and one onion with boiling water and cook until tender, but not broken. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan, stir in two tablespoonfuls of flour and cook until brown; then add two onions, chopped fine, three tablespoonfuls of vinegar and two tablespoonfuls of the water the lentils were cooked in, stir until boiling, add the drained lentils with salt and pepper as needed and a grating of nutmeg. Turn into a double boiler and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Serve surrounded with cress.

Baked Brown Bread.

One cupful rolled oats; pour over one pint of boiling water and let stand one hour. Then add one-half cupful molasses, one teaspoonful salt, one tablespoonful butter, half yeast cake dissolved in one-half cupful water. Make stiff batter, adding one cupful graham flour and the rest white flour. Make stiff as you can stir. To be set over night.

Save the Yolks.

When, as frequently happens, the whites of several eggs are used, and there is no immediate use for the yolks, they can be kept fresh for several days by dropping them in a cup carefully and then covering them gently (so as not to break the delicate skin), with cold water; change the water daily.

When Warming Over Meat.

The best way to warm up a roast of meat is to wrap it in thickly greased paper, and keep it covered while in the oven. By having it covered the steam will prevent the meat from becoming hard and dry, and it will be come heated through in less time.

Banana Fluffs.

Put enough bananas through a ricer to fill one cup, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, juice of half a small lemon and one-half cupful of cream, whipped stiff. Beat all together and serve very cold with sponge cake, or as a layer cake filling.

Making Beef Tea.

If it is necessary to cool soup or beef tea at once, pass it through a clean cloth saturated with cold water. Not a particle of fat will be left in the liquid.

DAIRY

FEEDING SILAGE IN SUMMER

Practice Found to Be Cheaper Than Turning Cows Into Pasture—Make-Up of Dairy Cow.

Dean Mumford of the Missouri College of Agriculture makes the statement that cows can be maintained more cheaply on silage than they can be carried through the summer on blue-grass pasture, where the land costs about one hundred dollars per acre and is suitable for growing corn. He says that there is very little pasture land where a cow and a calf can be pastured on less than one and one-half acres, but it is entirely possible to get twelve and one-half to twenty tons of silage from one acre. A cow and her calf can be carried through the summer on two pounds of clover hay and thirty-five pounds of silage per day as well or better than on blue-grass pasture. Thus he declares that you can carry a cow and her calf six months on less than a half acre of silage.

The good dairy cow has a broad forehead, indicating intelligence and a kindly disposition. She has a short, thin neck, not at all beefy, in which veins are plainly manifest. She is narrow through the front shoulders and thick-chested, indicating good lung capacity.

She has a large, well-rounded stomach, showing capacity for storage of food and water, from which milk is to be manufactured. She has broad hips and a good width through the flanks, giving plenty of room for lacteal organs. There is also a gentle incline from her shoulders to her rump. The udder is large and soft, hanging down well between her hind legs and extending forward and backward in a well-balanced proportion. Her legs are short and her hair is a glossy color.

DIFFERENT COW-FEED RULES

No Two Cows With Big Records Ever Received Same Rations—Proper Balance Is Most Desired.

(By WALTER B. LEUTZ.)

To a great extent each cow is a law unto herself so far as the most desirable grain for her to receive is concerned, and it is as difficult to give instructions for feeding a cow for high production as it is to give exact instructions for driving a two-minute race horse.

So far as we know no two cows that have made large records and have been developed by different men ever received the same ration, and we doubt if any two developed by the same man have ever received exactly the same feed. The success of a feeder depends upon his ability to maintain a proper balance between the feeds that are rich in carbohydrates and those that are rich in protein. Other conditions also have to have very careful attention, so it is absolutely impossible to lay down any fixed rules for feeding.

The secret of success is to a large extent the ability to see trouble before you are into it, and thus be able to avoid bad results. Good horse-sense and love for the work count for more than anything else.

METHOD FOR COOLING CREAM

Task Should Be Performed at Once After Separation—Good Plan to Place Can in Cold Water.

(By PROF. C. LARSEN.)

Cool the cream at once after separation. This can be done by placing the cream can in a tank of fresh, cold water. A good plan is to have the water used for stock run through this milk cooler before it reaches the general stock water tank. This method cools the cream during all seasons, and in addition it prevents freezing during the winter. Do not put the can cover on tightly. A loose cover allows the animal odor to pass off, and at the same time prevents the dust from getting into the cream.

Never allow freshly skimmed warm cream to be mixed with the previously skimmed cold cream until the former has been well cooled. The warm cream causes the germs to develop and they sour and spoil the cream.

Keep Milk in Proper Place.

Do not leave the open pails standing around the cow stable while you milk the next cow. Take the milk where it will be free from contamination.

Might Not Be Alive.

I lay in bed 27 days, and the doctor came every day, but did me no good. Finally, he advised an operation, but I would not consent, and instead took Cardui. Now I am going about the house, doing my work, and even do my washing. Cardui worked wonders in my case. I am in better health than for five years." Cardui is a strengthening tonic for women. Fat People Need Not Worry.

The only condition known in which excessive accumulations of healthy or normal fat can produce serious trouble is an accumulation of it over the surface of the walls of the heart or just outside the pericardium or heart-bag. And this condition is so rare, even in exceedingly fat people, as to be little more than a pathological curiosity. Indeed, so far from fat people being especially disposed toward and liable to fatty degeneration of the heart, or liver, or kidneys, these end-symptoms of chronic poisoning, whether from disease toxins, arsenic, phosphorus or alcohol, are more likely to occur in those who are lean, emaciated and anemic.

First Thing Road Builder Should Strive For Is to Have Ground-work Good and Solid.

(By E. W. HOUSE, Colorado Agricultural College.)

The good roads movement in Colorado seems now to have acquired full swing and the next ten years will see most of our important roads surfaced with gravel. It is important that this gravel be placed upon a good foundation or it will be mixed with the clay and lost.

Some time ago an important road was being surfaced and those in charge were plowing up the old road, which was very hard, the lumps were being broken as much as possible, then the road was given a light rolling, wet thoroughly and the gravel then spread and rolled. When asked why they were patting the gravel on the soft mud foundation, the reply came, "So that it will knit well with the clay." This is exactly what should be guarded against as much as possible and is the very thing road builders should seek to avoid.

Let us remember that gravel will knit or mix with the clay below in spite of all we can do, but the harder the clay foundation surface is and the firmer it is compacted, the longer will the gravel stay on top and give a smooth wearing surface and the longer the road will last.

All authorities are agreed on this point, and the first thing that a road builder should strive for is to have his earth foundation solid and hard and the drainage so fixed that it will remain so.

CONVICTS FOR ROAD LABOR

Motorists Interested in Study Now Being Conducted by National Prison Labor Committee.

Road work for misdemeanant prisoners is the subject of an investigation which is being conducted under the joint direction of the National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor and the graduate highways department of Columbia university.

James Leland Stamford, who is in charge of the investigation, has had considerable experience in the road camps of Georgia, where the majority of male prisoners are worked on the roads.

The committee will consider in detail such matters as the most economical size of a road gang, the cost of guarding, supervising and maintenance and the approximate value of a day's work. It will also show the possibility of increasing efficiency by means of the payment of wages, recreation after work hours and the shortening of sentence for good conduct. Conditions in the different sections of the country are to be dealt with, especially as to the effect of the weather and the cost of stock.

In Kalamazoo county, Mich., and other counties where road work has been tried, even under experimental conditions, it has been found eminently successful. In fact, the knowledge that a jail sentence will mean hard work on the roads has a tendency to decrease the number of commitments, vagrants keeping away from counties where they will be subjected to work of this character.

Source of Information.

Persons interested in the good roads problem, either from the engineering or the legislative standpoint, will find the report of the joint congressional committee on federal aid to good roads a convenient source of information. It not only contains the most extensive data ever published on this subject, but also includes a bibliography of the literature on the subject, a list of the names of the good roads advocates, and a list of the good roads organizations. The report is printed by the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

INVASION OF CATERPILLARS

Foliage Pests Strike Certain Sections in Highly Destructive Swarms.

ARE EASILY EXTERMINATED.

Government Expert Gives a Recipe For Spray Which Kills The Hairy Worms.

Caterpillars in unusual number have made their appearance in sections of Hopkinsville and out in the county this year and are doing more than ordinary damage. Owners of shade trees in certain sections are reporting that some of their trees are "literally being eaten up."

This, it is said, need cause no great alarm, as it is stated in bulletins of the United States Department of Entomology that "at rather long and irregular intervals caterpillars have been excessively abundant in different parts of their range, but more particularly in the New England States." The variety commonly complained of is the tent caterpillar, which infests both fruit and shade trees and is conspicuous by the unsightly webs or nests in which it makes its home in trees.

SPARROW A DESTROYER.

In connection with the problem of the destruction of these caterpillars, credit is given the English sparrow by James Speed, editor of Farm and Family. The sparrow, commonly supposed to be not only worthless but a nuisance, is a bird, Mr. Speed states, that destroys unusual numbers of caterpillars. The blue jay also feeds on them. Most birds, it is stated, by a Government bulletin, do not feed on hairy larvae such as the caterpillar.

RELIEF METHODS.

One of the best ways to prevent the occupation of trees by the tent caterpillar is to prune off the egg masses in the spring before the leaves are out. The egg masses are readily conspicuous and with a little practice can easily be found. Trees sprayed before they leaf are rarely troubled with such insects, it is stated.

Having hatched, tent caterpillars are readily destroyed by the use of arsenicals such as Paris green. Says a bulletin of the Government Bureau, furnished by F. E. Merriman, Jefferson county farm expert:

"Any of the arsenical insecticides may be used, as Paris green, Scheele's green, arsenate of lead, etc. The first two are used at the rate of one pound to 150 or 200 gallons of water and the last at the rate of two pounds to fifty gallons of water, the milk of lime obtained by slaking two or three pounds of stone lime being added to neutralize any caustic effect of the arsenical on the foliage. Preferably, however, the poisons should be used in dilute lime-sulphur wash or Bordeaux mixture, thus effecting a combination treatment for insects and fungous diseases. On stone fruits, such as cherry, peach and plum, arsenicals are likely to cause injury to foliage and must be used with caution. On such trees the arsenate of lead is preferable to the arsenicals, as it is less injurious to foliage and on all trees sticks much better. In spraying for the tent caterpillar only applications should be made while the caterpillars are yet small, as these succumb more nearly full grown, and prompt treatment stops further defoliation of the trees."

How Tuberculosis Spreads.

Encouraging figures about the fight against the "white plague" were given at the recent Anti-Tuberculosis association meeting at Seattle. The death rate from this disease has been reduced in the past 33 years from 326 per 100,000, to 146. But as 143,000 people still die yearly from tuberculosis in this country, it is still an every present dread.

The one great difficulty is the persistence of the habit of spitting in the street. It is not a pleasant subject. The newspaper would much rather write about something cleaner and more thrilling than this toilsome crusade against a popular custom.

KENTUCKY POLITICAL NEWS

Leading Facts of the Past Week

McDERMOTT'S SPEAKINGS.

Paducah, Ky., June 26, 1915.—(Special Correspondence.)—Lieutenant Governor E. J. McDermott spoke here Thursday afternoon to about 250 people. There were present a number of Prohibitionists and Republicans, and several Stanley supporters, all of whom, regardless of their choice for Governor, honor and respect Mr. McDermott.

The address was characteristic of the speaker—eloquent and outspoken on the issues he deems paramount in Kentucky to-day.

As in his previous speeches, Mr. McDermott gave his reasons for opposing state-wide prohibition. He served in the Constitutional Convention and helped place in the constitution the provision that enables each county to be a self-governing unit, without interference from outside counties. In the last session of the legislature, when the present County Unit Law was passed making the constitutional provision fully effective, Mr. McDermott stood for the Jeffersonian fundamental democratic doctrine that people can govern themselves on such matters better than outsiders can govern them.

In this he agrees with his opponent, Mr. A. O. Stanley, that state-wide prohibition is not an effective temperance measure, but, on the contrary, would take away, without the consent of the governed, that most sacred right of a free people to regulate for themselves, within their own county, moral and social affairs, such as the license or prohibition of saloons. He maintains that whenever the people of a county, whose elected officers must enforce the law, if it is to be effective, want to abolish saloons, they can do so under the County Unit Law; and that that prohibition thus obtained will be exactly what the people want. If state-wide prohibition is forced upon the unwilling people of any county, neither they nor the officers they elect will obey or enforce the objectionable law. Such contempt of law is hurtful to the character of the citizenship, and tends to cause disrespect for other laws.

From Paducah, Mr. McDermott went to Marion, Sturgis and Morgantown, where he addressed rather small audiences, owing to the fact that farmers are busy with their crops.

NEWMAN WITHDRAWS FROM GOVERNOR'S RACE.

Frankfort, Ky., June 25, 1915.—(Special Correspondence.)—The withdrawal of Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman from the race for Governor was somewhat of a surprise to many, although it was conceded that Harry McChesney, backed as he is by the Anti-Saloon League and General Percy Haley, had much the larger following among the "extra dries," as Mr. Newman expresses it. Evidently Mr. Newman realized that he could not make much headway as a state-wide candidate against the candidate selected by Dr. Palmer, the Anti-Saloon League superintendent, and O. K'd by Senator Beckham and General Haley.

Although Mr. Newman was the first candidate to announce for Governor on a state-wide prohibition platform, and had the endorsement of the W. C. T. U., the pioneer temperance organization of the state, the powers that were to direct the campaign did not look with favor on his candidacy. Mr. McChesney was selected as the standard bearer of the prohibitionists. His headquarters are busy, with a large force of clerks, and ample funds to make an aggressive campaign.

In his card of withdrawal Mr. Newman says he has canvassed and spoken in more than forty counties, and has concluded that there are only two candidates for Governor who are seriously considered in the race. Though he did not mention names, it is conceded that he meant Stanley and McChesney. Furthermore, he says the Democratic party is facing a crisis that may endanger its success, unless harmony is restored and all unite for victory in November, which he pledges himself to aid in accomplishing. The harmony and unanimity of the Republican platform convention at Lexington this month, at which they reaffirmed the County Unit Law, and declined to take any state-wide "in their," with Judge O'Rear and Dr. Bruner pledging their support to the Republican ticket, was a distinct warning that the Republicans are to be in the running this fall, ready and anxious to take advantage of any Democratic mistakes. They believe that a state-wide prohibition Democracy will assure Republican victory this fall. For that reason Mr. McChesney is the prime favorite of Republicans, from Ed Morrow, the sure-thing nominee for Governor, down to the boys in the trenches who hope to get jobs under a Republican administration.

Nevertheless, Mr. Newman declares, like the good Democrat he is, "The Democrats will continue in power in Kentucky, and indicate to the world that Kentucky is behind the National Democratic administration, and in line for the presidential election in 1916."

Some say that Mr. Newman feels that President Wilson's opinion that local option, and not state-wide prohibition, is the proper method of controlling the liquor question, is the general of Kentucky Democrats who are enthusiastically behind the President in all his great policies. Mr. Newman is a Democrat of the truest type, and as Commissioner of Agriculture has accomplished greater results for the development of the farming interests of the state than all his predecessors combined. He is a tireless, fearless worker, and has done things worth while since he has been in office.

STANLEY SPEAKS TO RECORD. BREAKING CROWDS IN THE THIRD DISTRICT.

Franklin, Ky., June 26, 1915.—(Special Correspondence.)—Hon. A. O. Stanley finished the busiest week of his campaign to-day at this place, speaking to the largest crowd that has attended a political speaking in this county in years, estimated at 5,000 to 6,000. Enthusiasm was unbounded, and, to all appearance, Stanley men were the only kind of Democrats in Simpson county.

Mr. Stanley began the week's campaign at Glasgow, where a record-breaking attendance greeted him. It was the largest crowd that has been in Glasgow since the Civil War. Practically everybody seemed to be for Stanley.

From Glasgow, Mr. Stanley went to Edmononton, Metcalfe county; Brownsville, Edmononton county, and Scottsville, Allen county. Everywhere the attendance was larger than the court houses could accommodate, and windows and standing room were occupied by eager Democrats, notwithstanding the fact that the farmers are behind with their work and in the middle of their harvests.

The masterly appeals Mr. Stanley is making to the people to stand by President Wilson in his splendid leadership of the party is received most enthusiastically. It is apparent everywhere that the people want a business administration, with such a revision of the tax laws as will enable the state to pay off the $2,000,000 state debt, without laying any heavier tax burden upon the farms, live stock and other tangible property that now pays the expense of government. Millions upon millions of property that escapes assessment and pays no taxes must be put upon the tax duplicate and made to pay its share of the taxes necessary to pay off the state debt, build good roads throughout the state, and improve the school system by having longer terms in the country and better paid teachers.

The County Unit Law, passed by the last legislature, meets the approval of the people. They do not want to experiment with state-wide prohibition, when under the County Unit system every county can vote out the saloons any time a majority of the people want to do so. The taxpayers do not want to destroy the $100,000,000 of taxable property in the state that is paying nearly a million dollars a year in taxes, and place upon the farms, factories, live stock and other property, already too heavily taxed, that additional burden, which would be necessary if state-wide prohibition were adopted.

The slogan, "Stand by the President and the Democratic platforms, state and national, upon which the party has won its greatest victories," meets the hearty approval of the people.

MORROW ADDRESSES A BIG CROWD AT SHELBYVILLE.

Shelbyville, Ky., June 25, 1915 (Special Correspondence.)—In the rock-ribbed Democratic stronghold of Shelby, the Hon. Edwin P. Morrow had a very large attendance to hear him speak last Tuesday evening. Democrats and Republicans, as well as many ladies, turned out to hear him. It was noted that, although Mr. Morrow spoke at night, he had a larger crowd than Mr. McChesney had a week before, on County Court day.

Ed Morrow, as he is familiarly called by everybody, is a most attractive speaker, and off the platform is the best handshaker, and wears the happiest smile of any man in Kentucky, and if the Democrats make any serious mistake in choosing their candidate for governor, many a Democrat will hear Morrow's eloquent voice and feel the magnetic persuasion of his cordial hand when they go into the booth on November election day.

After the speaking, a number of Democrats, and ardent temperance men, met Mr. Morrow, and told him that they agreed with him on the liquor question, believing that the County Unit law was all that is needed to banish the saloon from any county opposed to them. The recent wet and dry election in Shelby county proved to them that state-wide prohibition is not necessary, for they voted out saloons, and the county is now as dry as a powder horn. At the same time they do not want to destroy the vast distilling properties in the state that pay nearly a million dollars in taxes, for if they do, they will know that other property, already heavily taxed, will have to take up that burden in addition to what they now carry, and that without accomplishing anything for real temperance.

With a state treasury already over two million dollars in debt, the taxpayers do not fancy adding another million on account of state-wide prohibition, for they know they will have the whole thing to pay in the end, while the office seekers who are riding the prohibition issue can take it easy. The bankrupt neighboring states of West Virginia and Tennessee, each with a debt of twelve million dollars and state-wide prohibition, are warning danger signals to thoughtful people.

JAMES R. EDWARDS ANNOUNCES FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Louisville, Ky., June 28, 1915.—(Special Correspondence.)—Hon. James R. Edwards, of Jefferson County, one of the most prominent lawyers in the state, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor. His platform is, briefly, better schools, improved public highways, economy in state affairs, abolishment of unnecessary expensive offices, revision of tax laws so as to relieve overtaxed properties and taxation of such property as now avoids taxation, favors the present County Unit Law for regulation of the liquor traffic as passed by the legislature in compliance with the Democratic platform of 1911, which is the fundamental law of the party, and opposes State-wide prohibition as unnecessary as a temperance measure, a menace to the overburdened taxpayers, and contrary to both the National and State platforms of the party.

Mr. Edwards was a candidate for Lieutenant Governor in 1911, and was defeated by Mr. Edward J. McDermott, the present Lieutenant Governor, now a candidate for Governor, by a plurality of 1,562 votes in the State, though Mr. Edwards carried Jefferson County over Mr. McDermott by over 5,000.

Judge Edwards is a giant physically, being several inches over six feet tall, is a forceful public speaker, a man always with the courage of his convictions, and loyal to his sense of duty in both private and public life.

McCHESNEY IN THE MOUNTAINS.

Middlesboro, Ky., June 26, 1915, (Special Correspondence.)—H. V. McChesney, state-wide prohibition candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, has been speaking in the mountain counties this week.

At Middlesboro there were present forty white men, ten ladies, and three negroes. At London, Williamsburg and Corbin, Republicans and Democrats in about equal numbers, and a few ladies, heard him attentively. Republicans generally, who are taking any interest in state politics, think well of Mr. McChesney as a Democratic candidate.

Stanley Greeted By Two Great Crowds At Elkton and Trenton.

IN CALDWELL YESTERDAY.

And Speaker Will Make Other Speeches In First District.

Tuesday a large number of the personal friends and political supporters of Hon. A. O. Stanley, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, went over to Elkton, where he spoke. In the party were Joe E. Moseley, David Smith, Sheriff Jewell Smith, George McGee, Dr. Isbell, Otis Rhea, Earnest Coleman, V. E. Barnes, Tom McReynolds, Lee Gore, Lowe Johnson, T. H. Lee and Clinton Drake. They drove through in automobiles.

At Elkton Mr. Stanley spoke at the Opera House, which was packed with people. At 7:30 another speech was made at Trenton, and the local delegation accompanied the candidate there.

In Trenton Mr. Stanley spoke from a platform that had been erected on the street. The streets were crowded and great demonstrations were given the speaker.

Mr. Stanley spent Tuesday night here and left on an early train for Princeton. He spoke there yesterday and at Fredonia last night.

Almost a Tragedy.

The big auto truck of the Keach Company, driven by a young man named Sneed, got beyond his control on Ninth street at 4 p. m., yesterday and plunged across the pavement against the glass front of Day & Hord's barbershop breaking one glass. A little boy named Gus Green narrowly missed being crushed, but escaped with a mashed thumb. A small tree in the side walk was knocked down.

Argument is generally waste of time and trouble. It is better to present one's opinion and leave it to stick or not as it may happen. If sound, it will probably in the end stick, and the sticking is the main thing.—Samuel Butler.
